

Mountain View Apartments

November 2009

HALLOWEEN SPIRIT

It was so fun to see the Halloween spirit from apartments 1, 5, 12, and 14. In fact, there were so many extra touches, I couldn't decide who should win the decorating contest. I was going to bring my daughters back on Halloween and have them judge for me while I took pictures, but unfortunately everyone in my home got the bad flu. Therefore, I am declaring all four apartments winners! But I have to give extra kudos to Rachel, Emily, Taylor, and Arianne in #5 for the dry ice in the toilet. It was freaky to see smoke coming from the bathroom. Also, I loved the "Erika" scarecrow that TC, Whitney, Sarah, and Amy from apartment #12 built. I'm just not sure I loved its stuffed gut.

CLEAN CHECKS

Just another friendly reminder that clean checks will be held Wednesday, November 11th from 5:30 to 6:30 pm. Please post the assignment sheet on your fridge so I can see who is responsible for each section. Your next clean check is during finals, so since you will be very busy, I suggest keeping your apartment clean during the next month. Don't let it pile up and then try to do it all while you also have to study for finals.

GOLDEN RULE

I'm sad that I have to do a bit of nagging each newsletter, but it seems that just a few of you are a bit forgetful that you have roommates and/or that you have apartments above, below, and/or on the sides of you. Unfortunately, I am getting a few comments about some loud tenants that are making it difficult for others to study and sleep. Please be courteous and remember that you need to be respectful of others' schedules. Thanks!

READY FOR WINTER?

It's getting cold! Now that Wintery weather is coming, I would like to remind everyone to close your storm windows. Please make sure that both sliding windows are fully closed when it is cold during the day and then especially at night. It wastes a lot of energy to have the furnace work so hard to keep your apartment warm when the heat is leaving through the windows. During next clean checks, I will be making sure that all of the storm windows are closed tight.